Dear The Federal Communications Commission,

I do not want to pay more for my telephone service! I urge you to reject a flat fee proposal that would change how contributions are made to the Universal Service Fund. I am concerned that this proposal could make my current service unaffordable.

Under the flat fee proposal you are considering, people who make few long distance calls would pay the same as people or businesses that make many calls. In other words, low-volume and primarily residential customers would bear the same universal service fund burden as a high-volume residential or business customers. This is unfair!

I use my wireless phone for safety, security and convenience. I don't want to lose these benefits so that big businesses can pay less than their fair share. I urge you to reject the proposal to move the USF collection system to a flat-fee.

Keep the USF Fair!

Not only this, but don't you think the FCC and the federal government tax enough? The tax burden on people like me who are just trying to make ends meet is more than what's fair or right or just. Not only is the FCC trying to put an unfair tax on wireless phones, but on prepaid calling cards as well! This is preposterous, to say the least! Enough is enough! Stop trying to tax people to death! I was going to say that before you know it, there will be a tax on fresh-brewed coffee, but they're already doing that one in N.H. as well! Those who can well-afford it are already not paying their fair share in taxes, and those like me who are just trying to raise a family by themselves, i.e. single parents, etc... , are stuck with the burden! So please find your extra income elsewhere, other than my family's wallet! Thank you!

Sincerely,

Teri Fleck
